	PLAINTIFFS' OPPOSITION TO DEFENDENT'S MOTION FOR ATTORNEY'S FEES PURSUANT TO CALIFORNIA CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE § 425.16(C)

1

I.

INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

Plaintiffs are a small business with one employee and three contractors providing a computer 3 security product to a niche market of approximately 40 customers. Unlike Defendant, Plaintiffs did 4 5 not have the means to afford a dream team of five attorneys and two support staff from a 5-star law 6 firm, and had to resort to hiring a small law firm with one attorney. Ex. 1, Declaration of Rohit 7 Chhabra (Chhabra Decl.) ¶3. Specifically, Plaintiffs were charged a reasonable hourly rate of 8 $350/hour since this matter did not relate to any complex issues of Intellectual Property law. Chhabra 9 Decl. ¶¶4, 7. If the Court were to grant Defendant's ridiculous and outrageous fee demands for a 10 relatively simple matter, it would not only be unjustified but would perhaps also fulfill the ultimate 11 objective of Defendant's blog post – to have "the desired effect"¹ of hurting Plaintiffs' business. 12 13 No complex legal question was presented in this matter; specifically no issue related to intellectual 14 property was presented or argued 15

Based on the Court's December 21, 2017 Order, Plaintiffs agreed that Defendant is the 16 prevailing party for the anti-SLAPP motion and statutorily is entitled a reasonable attorneys' fee 17 award. However, Defendant attempts to justify his outrageous fee demand claims and the hiring of a 18 multi-million dollar law firm with specialization in intellectual property law, by stating that the 19 underlying matter in this case was related to a complex legal issue involving intellectual property law. 20 21 Defendant's contention is patently incorrect. The underlying premise of Plaintiffs arguments was 22 based on a relatively simple legal argument whether, based on existing case law and American 23 Jurisprudence, Plaintiffs could be held in violation of the GNU General Public License (GPL), and 24 whether Defendant's statements based on his reputation could be considered as offering lay person 25 opinion. See First Amended Complaint (FAC) ¶¶ 30 – 32, 49 (alleging that all the statements are false 26 because Plaintiffs' Access Agreement did not violate the GPL based on the principle that Plaintiffs had 1 a right to choose their future business patrons); Plaintiffs never presented any argument related to any 2 issue of intellectual property law. See generally, Motion for partial summ. judgment (ECF No. 24); 3 4 Opposition to anti-SLAPP motion (ECF No. 38). Defendant incorrectly states that the FAC asserted 5 complex legal issues. To the contrary, Plaintiffs claimed all nine statements presented by Defendant 6 were false "because the Access Agreement does not violate the GPLv2". FAC ¶49 (emphasis added). 7 Furthermore, neither did this Court find any complex legal issues to make its determination in this 8 matter. See Order Dated Dec. 21. 2017 (ECF No. 53). Plaintiffs' counsel retained Attorneys' fee expert 9 witness William Norman, to provide a fair and unbiased evaluation in this matter. Chhabra Decl. 9. 10 11 No sealed information was provided to Mr. Norman. Id. Neither Plaintiffs, nor Plaintiffs' counsel, or 12 its agents or representatives asked Mr. Norman to modify or revise his assessment. Ex. 2, Declaration 13 of Fee Expert Witness William Norman (Norman Decl.) ¶ 2; Chhabra Decl.¶ 9. Mr. Norman has 47 14 years of experience, has handled several complex business litigation matters, including approximately 15 15 anti-SLAPP matters; he has also appeared as an attorneys' fee expert on several occasions. Norman 16 Decl. ¶1. A true and correct copy of Mr. Norman's publicly available experience and professional 17 biography is attached hereto as Ex. $3.^2$ 18

Mr. Norman also agrees with Plaintiffs' contention that nothing in this matter required a huge law firm with attorneys specializing in Intellectual Property matters; there was no need to hire an intellectual property based legal team with their exorbitant hourly rates. Norman Decl. ¶ 6. However, despite that, Defendant under seal submits Detailed Billing Entries (ECF No. 67 (Hansen Decl.), Ex.
C) (Timekeeper Records) and demands $478,977.50 in attorneys' fees and an additional award of $188,687.75 as a "success fee." Decl. Hansen ¶4. Not only does the demanded fee show inefficient

PLAINTIFFS' OPPOSITION TO DEFENDENT'S MOTION FOR ATTORNEY'S FEES PURSUANT TO CALIFORNIA CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE § 425.16(C)

Case 3:17-cv-04002-LB Document 77-2 Filed 03/09/18 Page 7 of 29

management, Defendant mistakes and forgets the legislative purpose of Code of Civil Procedure § 1 425.16(C) is to entitle recovery of reasonable attorneys' fees and costs, and not to unjustly enrich his 2 3 counsels with outrageous and unfettered attorneys' fees or unconscionable alternative fee agreements 4 like "success fees." Both are unreasonable and appalling by any standard for determining attorney's 5 fees and costs in this matter. Norman Decl. ¶ 7, 10. 6 Exorbitant and unreasonable hourly attorney billing rates 7 Defendant also seeks recovery of fees based on hourly fee charges that exceed by hundreds of 8 dollars per hour the average billing rates charged in the relevant legal community. Not only is 9 Defendant's dream team overstaffed, their billing rates claimed can only be considered reasonable in 10 11 ones' dream! Notably, all three associates who worked on this matter were admitted in California in 12 2017; two claimed "associates" were not even attorneys (in any jurisdiction) until December 2, 13 2017 – that is, 12 days before the Dec. 14 hearing in this matter. Chhabra Decl. ¶ 10. It is patently 14 unreasonable to bill out a paralegal at two non-attorney "interns" at (for less than 15 a month, ignoring December holidays, and then interestingly enough increasing their hourly rates to 16), a first year associate from in 2017 to in 2018, and two partners each 17 and /hour for 2017 and 2018 respectively. It is billed at and , and 18 19 astonishing that even Defendant's paralegal has a claimed hourly billable higher that Plaintiffs' 20 counsel; this is completely unheard of, even in matters involving complex intellectual property (patent) 21 related issues. This further becomes extremely outrageous since Plaintiffs never argued any complex 22 legal question in this matter related to a complex intellectual property issue. It is also problematic that 23 Defendant argues that he needed to hire a multi-million dollar intellectual law firm because Plaintiffs 24 sought to recover 3 Million dollars in damages from an individual. This is incorrect. Complaints are 25 routinely filed based on information and belief, and Plaintiffs sought a recovery of 3 Million dollars in 26 27 damages from Defendant and Does 1 -50 (a total of 51 defendants). Since discovery was never -3-28 3:17-CV-04002-LB PLAINTIFFS' OPPOSITION TO DEFENDENT'S MOTION FOR ATTORNEY'S FEES PURSUANT TO CALIFORNIA CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE § 425.16(C) initiated, Plaintiffs were never able to ascertain the correct number of defendants in this matter.

Specifically, Plaintiffs sought damages of "an amount to be determined at trial, but in excess of $75,000 as to each defendant." FAC ¶ 86 (italics added). Thus, this also does not justify Defendant's imprudent actions of hiring a multi-million dollar law firm with specialization in intellectual property law. Further, Plaintiffs also cannot be held responsible for Defendant's counsel's actions for undertaking this non-intellectual property matter, when this matter could have easily been represented by any non-intellectual property lawyer. See Norman Decl. ¶ 6.

9 Serious Mismanagement Concerns

The unreasonableness and the inefficiency can also be recognized by Defendant's counsel's having assigned seven different time billers to the matter, including two partners, two non-admitted "associates" (legal interns) and a first year associate to the defense of this matter. As opined by attorneys' fee expert, Mr. Norman, "[m]ore timekeepers, especially those duplicating other timekeepers in the same levels, are extremely inefficient. Confusion, extra management time by the team leader, and excess intra-office conferencing result in greater cost and they often compromise the overall effort." Norman Decl. ¶ 7(b).

Furthermore, given the fact that 82%³ of the billable hours involved work performed by nonadmitted "interns" and a first year associate, the outrageous and absurd character of Defendant's demands can be recognized by determining a per page attorneys' fee charged:

1	•	109.5 hours for a 15 page reply for the Second anti-SLAPP totaling $60,803.50
2		($4,053 per page);
3	•	19.6 hours for a 3 page Response to Plaintiff's supplemental brief totaling $10,798.50
4		($3,599 per page);
5	•	87.5 hours for a 10 page opposition to partial summary judgment with one page

7 8	•	29.2 hours for a 6 page motions for Surreply and Surreply to partial summary

10	•	131.8 hours for a 19 page motion for attorneys' fees, a 7 page declaration, and a 28
11		page expense report (totaling 59 pages) for $76,602 ($1,298 per page).
12	Other c	outrageous fees claimed by Defendant are:
13	•	141.6 hours for preparing for a Court hearing; needlessly involving excessive staff who
14 15		played no active role in the hearing;
16	•	86.9 hours claimed by Defendant's counsel for case management; and
17	•	12.3 hours for three settlement communications via email (see Decl. Chhabra ¶ 11);
18		and
19	•	$188,167.75 unconscionable success fee that should be denied. Ninth Circuit law
20		specifically prohibits success fee multipliers in statutory fee shifting awards, as
21		discussed further herein.
22 23	Indeed,	Defendant's lead counsel, Ms. Hansen, throughout her litigation career of more than a more than a decade of experience defendant clients in defamation actions, she should have reasonably exercised proper judgment and should have steered her inexperienced interns and first year associate in a manner that would have significantly reduced the needless hours of research and reviews performed by all three junior unexperienced researchers and motion drafters.

Even Plaintiffs' counsel, with no prior experience in defamation cases (but otherwise not new to addressing complex litigation matters), has been significantly more efficient than Defendant's dream team by singlehandedly addressing this matter, without any support staff, and by billing Plaintiffs a total of $80,175, for the entirety of this matter, representing 229 billable hours. Chhabra Decl. ¶ 5. In fact, Plaintiffs' counsel has not billed Plaintiffs more than 40 hours (generally less) for any motion or pleading, illustrating that there was no need for significant research of any complex legal issue. Chhabra Decl. ¶ 7.

Therefore, the question now presented to the Court is – If Plaintiffs' counsel, with no prior experience in addressing defamation cases, was able to provide efficient representation to his clients, why couldn't Defendant's counsel do the same for handling a substantially similar amount of work?
 Arguably, had Plaintiffs' counsel employed interns and junior associates, the fee charged to Plaintiffs would have been further lowered. Clearly, Defendant has failed to provide substantial evidence justifying such egregious mismanagement that warrants 8.5 times the amount Plaintiffs' were charged for handling the same work.

21 Respectfully, there can be no reasonable justification. While Ms. Hansen has not claimed she 22 has "significant experience" in handling defamation cases, a decade long career of defending 23 defamation cases is nothing less than substantial and impressive; it is enough to provide efficient 24 management skills. The Court should therefore consider her experience, the number of hours expended 25 by Plaintiffs' counsel, declaration of fee expert, Mr. Norman, and the Court's own expertise and 26 27 experience in addressing similar actions to determine a reasonable fee award. Technology, Inc., 143 Cal.App.4th 1242, 1248-1251, 1253 (2006) ("the court determining based on its 1 own experience and expertise in handling complex civil cases, reduced a $112,288.63 anti-SLAPP fee 2 claim to $23,000 by reducing the claimed hours on the SLAPP motion from over 200 hours to 50 hours 3 4 and further considering the attorney's experience handling such matters.); Pecot v. Wong, Case No. 5 A139566, at *3, (Cal. Court of Appeal, 1st Appellate Dist., 4th Div., Jan. 18, 2018) WL 6 (unpublished) (affirming a reduction of anti-SLAPP fee claim for approximately 159 claimed hours to 7 $20,000 by reducing the number of hours and determining a reasonable fee, based on the court's own 8 expertise and experience and considering fee expert witness testimony). 9

Furthermore, as explained below, 48% of the detailed Timekeeping Records have substantial miscalculations, showing inconsistent billing practices, and cannot be considered as a reliable source of evidence. Thus, Defendant cannot satisfy his burden and establish that the claimed charges are reasonable.

In order to assist the Court, Plaintiffs undertook the mammoth project of providing a detailed analysis of the Timekeeping Records, calculations (including corrections of the 48% errors), and determining a reasonable fee award along with the basis thereof, as discussed further below.

THE COSTS AND FEES DEFENDANTS REQUEST IN THEIR EXPENSE REPORT ARE UNREASONABLE, EXCESSIVE, AND UNNECESSARY

20 State law governs attorney's fees awards based on state fee-shifting laws, like California's anti-21 SLAPP statute. See Northon v. Rule, 637 F.3d 937, 938 (9th Cir.2011). The Northern District has 22 recognized that a prevailing defendant, under section 425.16(c), shall only be entitled to recover 23 24 attorney's fees and costs that a court deems are reasonable. Loop AI Labs Inc. v. Gatti, Dist. Court, 25 Case No. 15-cv-00798-HSG at *2 (N.D. Cal. May 9, 2016) (citing Minichino v. First California 26 Realty, No. C-11-5185 EMC, 2012 WL 6554401, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 14, 2012)); Robertson v. 27 -7-28 3:17-CV-04002-LB Rodriguez, 36 Cal. App. 4th 347,362 (1995); Dove Audio, Inc. v. Rosenfeld, Meyer & Susman, 47 Cal.
 App. 4th 777, 785 (1996).

3	The proper method for calculating attorney's fees in California is the lodestar method. See
4	Ketchum v. Moses, 24 Cal. 4th 1122, 1136 (2001). In assessing attorney's fees under this method,
5	however, a Court must exclude those fees that are "excessive, redundant, [and] otherwise
6	unnecessary." Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 434 (1983); see also Serrano v Priest, 20 Cal 3d 25,
7	48 (1997) (explaining that a court assessing attorney fees begins with a lodestar figure that is based on
8	the "careful compilation of the time spent and reasonable hourly compensation of each attorney
9 10	involved in the presentation of the case.")
11	Since the Court's "role is not merely to rubber stamp the defendant's request, but to ascertain
12	whether the amount sought is reasonable," Robertson at 361, any fee award must be established by 13
14	"substantial evidence" supporting the award. Macias v. Hartwell , 55 Cal. App. 4th 669, 676 (1997).
15	Therefore, the Court is "not bound by the amount sought by defendants and [has the] discretion to 16	award them a lesser sum." Robertson at 362. Because Defendant requests an award that is
17	unreasonable and excessive, Defendant's request for attorney's fees and costs must be substantially
18	reduced.
19	A. A SUBSTANTIAL PORTION OF THE FEES AND COSTS SUBMITTED BY DEFENDANT IS NOT RECOVERABLE UNDER § 425.16(C)
20	Defendant presumes that he only had the right to file an anti-SLAPP motion and that no other
21	motion could (or should) have been filed prior to the hearing of the anti-SLAPP motion. See Mot. Atty.
22	Fees' at 3-4. However, Defendant fails to provide any case law that supports his contention.
23	The motion for partial summary judgment arose out of the facts based on statements made by 24 25	Defendant – prior to the filing of the anti-SLAPP motion(s). Even if Defendant had not filed his anti-
26	SLAPP motion, Plaintiffs would have filed the motion for partial summary judgment based on the 27	Defendant's prior statement, since an issue of fact existed that reasonably questioned Defendant's belief in the truth of his statements presented in the blog post. See Motion for Partial Summary Judgment ("MPSJ") (ECF No. 24). And since complaints are regularly filed on belief and information, these statements provided a showing that Defendant agreed with Plaintiffs, and thus there was no genuine issue of fact. Indeed, Plaintiffs had an arguable legal theory and wanted to debate that matter first before the filing of the Second anti-SLAPP motion; had the Court agreed with Plaintiffs, there would have been no need to file the Second anti-SLAPP motion. See Norman Decl. ¶8.

California's Anti-SLAPP statute allows a movant to recover "only those fees and costs incurred 8 in connection with the motion to strike, not the entire action." Paul for Council v. Hanyecz, 85 9 Cal.App.4th 1356 (2001). Plaintiffs, therefore, are not responsible to pay any fees that are applicable to 10 11 non-SLAPP motion matters or both the anti-SLAPP motion and other aspects of the litigation. The 12 statute limits recovery to costs and fees that apply only to the motion to strike and this is clearly a rule 13 of reason insofar as the purpose of an attorney's fees award under § 425. 16(c) is to compensate 14 defendants for the additional cost of litigating the anti-SLAPP motion. Insofar, as research would have 15 necessarily been performed were the anti-SLAPP motion never filed, Defendant should not be able to 16 recover those fees as well. Nonetheless, Defendant attempts to subsume all research relevant to both 17 the SLAPP motion and other aspects of the litigation even though that research would have needed to 18 19 be performed regardless of whether the anti-SLAPP motion had been filed. 20 However, even if the Court were to disagree with Plaintiffs' contention, there was a substantial 21 duplication in the arguments presented in the anti-SLAPP motion and MPSJ; attorneys' fees to file 22 those additional motions should have been minimal. Norman Decl. ¶8.

of the services provided." Martino v. Denevi, 182 Cal. App. 3d 553, 558 (1986). Even though testimony by any attorney regarding the number of hours worked is sufficient to justify that it is appropriate to grant attorney's fees, the reasonable value of the services rendered is still at the discretion of the Court. Id. at 558-59; see also Wilkerson v. Sullivan, 99 Cal. App. 4th 443, 448 (2002) (explaining that "[t]he reasonableness of attorney fees is within the discretion of the trial court.")

6 Although Defendant's counsel submits under declaration that the timekeeping records were 7 contemporaneously maintained (Def. Fee Motion, 9: 21 -23; Hansen Decl. ¶20 - 27), and personally 8 reviewed the records of fees and costs (Hansen Decl. $\P 2, 26$), approximately $48\%^5$ of the records 9 have incorrect mathematical calculations by either presenting exaggerated hours claimed with 10 11 substantially less fee listed, or by presenting exaggerated fees claimed for substantially less hours 12 listed. Decl. Chhabra ¶ 13. With so many disparities one can reasonably infer that the Timekeeping 13 Records are "doctored" for the sole purpose of meeting the purported amount and hours being claimed. 14 Not only the number of hours and fees claimed for which Defendant seeks reimbursement is absurd, 15 with 48% records reflecting incorrect calculations, the truthfulness and veracity of the Timekeeping 16 Records, in its entirety, and any supporting Declaration therewith are justifiably questioned;⁶ it is 17 respectfully submitted the Timekeeper Records cannot be considered as trustworthy evidence, and thus 18 19 any accompanying declaration relying on the Timekeeper Records should be stricken.

⁶ But of course Defendant's counsel is going to claim the 48% inaccuracies were an administrative "mistake," even after submitting a declaration, under penalty of perjury, that she reviewed "each of the billing records." However, it is improbable that a 700+ million dollar law firm like O'Melveny would not even have the most primitive timekeeping software that can perform simple mathematical calculations. Furthermore, with seven resources working on this matter (out of which five are (now) attorneys), it is hard to believe this could be an "honest mistake." It can reasonably be inferred that Defendant's counsel intentionally presented inaccurate data (both in hours and time) to greatly

<sup>exaggerate either the fee or hours claimed per task, while burying this data in a 7-point font in an attempt to justify their unreasonable and outrageous fee claims.</sup>

However, in good faith, Plaintiffs have corrected the claimed fees/ hours and summarized/sorted them by "category," for the Court's convenience. Id.

Based on the corrected calculations Defendant's counsels' own timekeeping records indicate that the total inefficient and mismanaged hours they are in fact claiming is 642.3 hours, that is a reduction of 191.6 hours from the 833.9 hours claimed in Defendant's motion. Decl. Chhabra, Ex. 1-A.
While Plaintiffs recognize that California does not require contemporaneously maintained records, and usually attorneys' declaration suffices for a fee motion, under the best evidence rule, any disparity and deviation in Defendant's counsel's declaration, from the contemporaneously maintained records, should be stricken out from such declaration.

11 Furthermore, with 48% errors, a question now exists as to the truthfulness and veracity of all 12 the Timekeeping Records submitted by Defendant's counsels. Also, any attempt to provide "corrected" 13 Timekeeping Records questions the premise of maintaining "contemporaneous" records and 14 submitting them as proof. Therefore, Defendant has failed to provide sufficient information to 15 determine whether the time spent and billed for various activities was, or was not, reasonable. With 16 48% of the timekeeping record not matching their claimed fees, it is fair to conclude Defendant's 17 counsels have not maintained proper records and thus Defendant's counsels have failed to establish by 18 19 "substantial evidence" supporting the award claimed. Macias v. Hartwell, supra, at 676. On these 20 grounds, this motion should be dismissed with prejudice; however, at the very least the 21 contemporaneous Timekeeping Records, and Ms. Hansen's declaration cannot and should not be 22 considered trustworthy and should be stricken from record. 23 C. THE TIMEKEEPING RECORDS HAVE AMBIGUOUS OR INCOMPLETE 24 INFORMATION Furthermore, Defendant's Timekeeping Records are filled with incomplete and ambiguous 25 information such that it is impossible to determine whether or not a particular expense is for purposes 26 27 of the anti-SLAPP motion or training exercises for its junior associate and interns. As can be observed, predominantly all entries state 'performing research', 'motion drafting', or 1 'conferences', and are repeated numerous times. Further, these entries have numerous errors, 2 3 inconsistent billing calculations, and are irrelevant, duplicative, or simply show inefficiency. All 4 objections are stated in the extreme right column of each entry. 5 Since no complex intellectual property claim was asserted, see FAC ¶ 49 (stating that all 6 statements in Defendant's blog were false because Plaintiffs did not violate the GPL). Also see FAC ¶¶ 7 21, 22, 30 and 31 (explaining the basis of why Plaintiffs claimed that they did not violate the GPL). 8 However, 33.3 hours were spent for researching this issue, without proper guidance to a first year 9 associate. Defendant provides no justification why there has been extreme inefficiency, especially 10 when no complex legal issue was presented. 11 12 In sum, since Ms. Hansen has over a decade of litigation experience and has handled several 13 defamation matters (Decl. Hansen ¶ 9), she could have easily prevented such frivolous and needless 14 research and actions. Plaintiffs cannot be held liable for a training school created by O'Melveny's 15 attorneys. 16 F. HOURLY FEES CLAIMED ARE UNREASONABLE 17 "In determining a reasonable hourly rate, the district court should be guided by the rate 18 19 prevailing in the community for similar work performed by attorneys of comparable skill, experience, 20 and reputation." Chalmers v. City of Los Angeles, 796 F.2d 1205, 1210-11 (9th Cir. 1986) (citing Blum 21 v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 895 n.11). The relevant community for purposes of determining the 22 prevailing market rate is generally the "forum in which the district court sits." Camacho v. Bridgeport 23 Fin., Inc., 523 F.3d 973, 979 (9th Cir. 2008). 24 In determining the reasonableness of Defendant's counsel's fees, this Court must weigh several 25 factors including the attorney's skill required and employed in handling the matter, the attorney's 26 27 learning, and the attorney's experience in the particular type of work. Clejan v. Reisman, 5 Cal. App. -15-28 3:17-CV-04002-LB PLAINTIFFS' OPPOSITION TO DEFENDENT'S MOTION FOR ATTORNEY'S FEES PURSUANT TO CALIFORNIA CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE § 425.16(C)

3d 224, 241 (1970). The lodestar approach begins by multiplying "the numbers of hours reasonably expended [with the] reasonable hourly rate." PLCM Group, Inc v. Drexler, 22 Cal. 4th 1084, 1095 (2000) (emphasis added). In so doing, a court should use the prevailing rates of comparable private attorneys as the "touchstone" for determining a reasonable rate for an attorney. International Longshoremen's Warehousemen's Union v. Los Angeles Export Terminal, Inc., 69 Cal. App. 4th 287, 303 (1999).

Notwithstanding Defendant's claims to the contrary, O'Melveny's hourly billing rate for its attorneys and support staff is outrageous. O'Melveny staffed this case with seven individuals representing six different billing rates ranging from frame. All of these billing rates are in excess of the normal prevailing rate for attorneys practicing in San Francisco Bay Area, California, including Menlo Park and San Francisco and also exceeds the experience and similar expertise in this type of litigation. Norman Decl. ¶¶ 1, 2, and 7(a).

14 It is respectfully submitted, Defendant cannot provide any reasonable justification why 15 intellectual property attorneys from a huge law firm were selected to represent him in this matter, and 17 thus his counsel's fee should be adjusted accordingly.⁸

Mr. Norman has provided estimated maximum hourly rates based on the complexity in this matter ranging from $180 to $550 per hour. Norman Decl. ¶7(a). In fact, Mr. Norman's estimated hourly rates exceed those that have been approved and recognized by various courts discussing similar, if not more, complex legal issues, in the Northern District. See LOOP AI LABS INC. v. Gatti, Dist. Court, 5-cv-00798-HSG (finding that the requested hourly rates of $230 for associates having four years experience, $365 per hour for attorney with 16 years of experience in complex intellectual ⁸ Plaintiffs' counsel, while primarily an intellectual property attorney, offered a discounted hourly rate to Plaintiffs in this matter (and has since maintained the same rate) as it was reasonably determined that this was not going to be an intellectual property related matter. See Chhabra Decl. ___.

property litigation matters, and $440 per hour for a partner with are reasonable are within the range of 1 reasonable rates in the Northern District [of California]); citing Henry v. Bank of Am. Corp., No. C 09-2 3 0628 RS, 2010 WL 3324890, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 23, 2010) (approving rates of $225 per hour for an 4 associate and $515 per hour for the partner); Minichino, 2012 WL 6554401, at *5 (finding attorneys 5 with nine and fourteen years of experience reasonably had billing rates ranging from $450-555); 6 Braden v. BH Fin. Servs., Inc., No. C 13-02287 CRB, 2014 WL 892897, at *6-7 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 4, 7 2014) (approving rates of $610 per hour for partners, and $310 per hour for managing attorney with 8 over eight years of experience)). 9

Furthermore, even if this is considered as a complex matter, Mr. Norman's expert testimony as 10 to the prevailing rate for a Bay area attorney are comparable to the Laffey Matrix, when adjusted to the 11 12 Bay area, which are a widely recognized compilation of attorney and paralegal rate data which is 13 regularly prepared and updated by the Civil Division of the United States Attorney's Office for the 14 District of Columbia and used in fee shifting cases in complex litigation matters and frequently 15 accepted by the Northern District. See https://www.justice.gov/usao-dc/file/796471/download (last 16 visited March 7, 2018).⁹ As noted by former Chief Judge Walker of this Court, "adjusting the Laffey 17 matrix figures upward by approximately 9% will yield rates appropriate for the Bay area" by using the 18 19 locality pay differentials within the federal courts as a reference. In re HPL Technologies, Inc. 20 Securities Litigation, 366 F. Supp. 2d 912, 922 (N.D. Cal. 2005) (determining the Laffey Matrix as a 21 "well-established objective source for rates" and finding it adequate for a complex securities fraud 22 class action). 23

In fact, as late as last month Chief Magistrate Judge Hon. Joseph C. Spero recognized the 24 Laffey Matrix, adjusted to the Bay area as an accurate prevailing rate. Lane Zhao v. SuminTsai, 17-cv-25

and the adjusted Laffey Matrix. Further, since a substantial amount of work in this matter was performed in 2017 (with the exception of the fees motion itself), using the Laffey Matrix of 20162017, provides an adequate reference point to determine the prevalent rate, even if this matter is considered as a complex legal matter:

2	It should be noted that while the Laffey Matrix is generally considered as an average fee for
3	complex litigation, Mr. Norman has not determined this matter to be a complex issue and thus his fee
4	estimates are understandably lower than the rates displayed in the Laffey Matrix. Thus, Plaintiffs
5	request this Court to consider Mr. Norman's hourly rate assessment as more accurate than the Laffey
6	Matrix. Nonetheless, the above, provides substantial evidence that any attorney hourly rate
7	determination higher than the adjusted Laffey Matrix in this matter should be considered as
8	unwarranted.

10	G. NO SUBSTANTIAL FEE CLAIMS SINCE 2018 ARE WARRANTED
11 12	Defendant's counsels claim to have substantially worked on this matter in 2018. Specifically,
12	Defendant's counsels claim to have expended H. Meeker (hours); M. Hansen (hours); C.

15	terse email communications, Plaintiffs have not communicated with Defendant (except when directed
16	by the Court on January 18, 2018). Chhabra Decl. ¶ 11. Thus, except for the fees motion the Court order to reflect the fact that the party's attorneys were retained on a contingent-fee [31] basis 1 and thus assumed the risk of receiving no payment at all for their services. City of Burlington v. Dague, 120 L. Ed. 2d 449, 112 S. Ct. 2638, 2639 (1992). 2 In its June 24, 1992 opinion in Dague the Court answered this query with a resounding "no," 3 when it held "that enhancement for contingency is not permitted under the fee shifting 4 statutes." Id. at 2643-44. Although the Solid Waste Disposal and Federal Water Pollution Control Acts and not § 1988 were at issue in Dague, the Dague Court expressly noted that the 5 language of both of these sections "is similar to that of many other federal fee-shifting statutes, see, e.g., 42 U.S.C. §§ 1988, 2000e-5(k), 7604(d); our case law construing what is a 6 'reasonable' fee applies uniformly to all of them." Id. at 2641 (citing Flight Attendants v. Zipes, 491 U.S. 754, 758 n. 2, 105 L. Ed. 2d 639, 109 S. Ct. 2732 (1989)). 7 8 Given the Court's holding in Dague, it is clear that contingency multipliers are no longer permitted under § 1988. Thus, we reverse the portion of the district court's amended order 9 awarding a 2.0 [32] contingency multiplier in this case. 10 Gates, 987 F.2d at 1403. 11 Defendant, on the other hand cites no Ninth Circuit case law to justify his position. However, if 12 this Court declines to apply Ninth Circuit law, which Plaintiffs believe would be an error, Plaintiffs 13 acknowledge that in California superior courts "[a]n enhancement of the lodestar amount to reflect the 14 15 contingency risk is "[0]ne of the most common fee enhancers" Graham v. DaimlerChrysler Corp., 16 34 Cal. 4th 553, 579 (2004). 17 "The purpose of a fee enhancement, or so-called multiplier, for contingent risk is to bring the 18 financial incentives for attorneys enforcing important constitutional rights ... into line with incentives 19 they have to undertake claims for which they are paid on a fee-for-services basis." Ketchum v. Moses, 20 24 Cal. 4th 1122, 1132 (2001). Thus, as explained in Ketchum, the lodestar enhancement "is intended 21 to approximate market-level compensation for such services, which typically includes a premium for 22 23 the risk of nonpayment or delay in payment of attorney fees." Id. at p. 1138. However, here, the 24 attorneys are not sole practitioners, in fact they had five attorneys with hourly rates ranging from 25 , working on a simple Anti-SLAPP motion -- compared to Plaintiffs' lone lawyer with an 26 hourly rate of $350. Since the claimed hourly rates by Defendant's counsels are already approximately 27 -20-28 3:17-CV-04002-LB PLAINTIFFS' OPPOSITION TO DEFENDENT'S MOTION FOR ATTORNEY'S FEES PURSUANT TO CALIFORNIA

8.5 times above the market-level compensation, a contingency multiplier-based lodestar enhancement for a huge multi-million dollar law firm cannot be warranted.

Furthermore, Defendant states that he was given an alternative fee agreement with a low fixed cost for litigation of the anti-SLAPP motion. Fee motion, at 16:14. The agreement specifically stated that in case the Court rendered a favorable decision, he would be awarded attorneys fee and a success fee of 1.5 times the standard rates. Id. 16:19-21. If Defendant did not prevail he would have only been responsible for the substantially discounted fee for the representation. Id. Defendant then claims that his counsel bore the risk if the Court's ruling would have been unfavorable to him.

This circular argument is flawed. First, Gates, supra, does not allow a multiplier in matters involving fee shifting statutes in Federal Court. Given that the Ninth Circuit ruled that Anti-SLAPP motions apply in federal court, the federal standard for denying a multiplier under Gates, should apply.

Moreover, the contingent nature of the work was mitigated by the fact that there is a statutory right to recover attorneys' fees for this work. Thus, there was no risk. Even the agreement clarified that if the Court did not rule in Defendant's favor, he would have not paid anything over the fixed substantially low fixed cost. The purpose of the anti-SLAPP statute is to protect the client, not the attorney. Norman Decl. ¶10.

Defendant cannot have it both ways, he cannot argue on the one hand that it was outrageous for Plaintiffs to refuse to dismiss this case early on, or should have let the Court ruled on the initially filed motion, and this failure caused increased fees, while on the other hand, claim that this was a complex case requiring extensive attorney time utilizing five attorneys at exorbitant billing rates.

- In any case, the Ninth Circuit law should apply, and the success fee multiplier should be denied.

I. NO COURT HAS EVER GRANTED AN AWARD THAT IS REMOTELY SIMILAR TO THE AMOUNT REQUESTED BY DEFENDANTS

A review of reported decisions in California suggests that Defendants' request for attorney's fees and 2 costs is facially unreasonable. These decisions indicate that movants are rarely granted more than 3 4 $60,000 pursuant to the anti-SLAPP statute. Furthermore, these cases were just as complex, if not 5 more so, than the current litigation. Below is a list of awards of attorney's fees and costs that have been 6 deemed reasonable by the California Court of Appeal or the California Supreme Court since 2000: 7 • $77,835.25: Bernardo v. Planned Parenthood Federation of America, 115 Cal. App. 4th 322 (2004) 8 (affirming award of reasonable attorney's fees to a national charitable organization annually serving 9 over four million people in suit regarding controversial scientific and medical issues that were of 10 11 public importance and required expert input, scientific data, and worldwide studies) 12 • $55,900: Tuchscher Development Enterprises, Inc. v. San Diego Unified Port Dist., 106 Cal. App. 13 4th 1219 (2003) (lawsuit against a port district for breach of contract and numerous business tort 14 claims based on alleged conspiracy to disrupt agreement to develop commercial property). 15 • $7,296.15: Kashian v. Harriman, 98 Cal. App. 4th 892 (2002) (lawsuit against an environmental 16 organization and its attorney alleging causes of action for unfair competition and for defamation 17 following newspaper's report on defendant lawyer's request that Attorney General conduct an 18 19 investigation into the plaintiff's business dealings). 20 • $45,000: Schroeder v. Irvine City Council, 97 Cal. App. 4th 174 (2002) (lawsuit against the City of 21 Irvine, its city council, and individual council members seeking injunctive and declaratory relief on the 22 grounds that defendants' "Vote 2000" program was an illegal expenditure of public funds). 23 • $65,386.61: Rosenaur v. Scherer, 88 Cal. App. 4th 260 (2001) (affirming trial court's award of 24 attorneys' fees for $65,386 in action for defamation and slander stemming from comments made 25 during a bitterly fought local initiative campaign concerning the commercial development of real 26 27 property).

$9,300: Dowling v. Zimmerman, 85 Cal. App. 4th 1400 (2001) (reduction of attorney's fees from an original request of $61,862.50 in case stemming from numerous unlawful detainer actions, petitions for restraining orders, and a suit alleging almost a dozen causes of action).

4 •The only reported decision in which the court reported on the reasonableness of a fee award obtained 5 by Defendants' counsel is Dove Audio, Inc. v. Rosenfeld, Meyer & Susman, 47 Cal. App. 4th 777 6 (1996). In Dove Audio, the son of famed actress Audrey Hepburn hired the law firm of Rosenfeld, 7 Meyer & Susman ("Rosenfeld") to contact other parties that had been bilked out of royalty payments in 8 anticipation of filing a complaint with the Attorney General. Id. at 780. The plaintiff, Dove Audio, then 9 sued the law firm for libel and interference with economic relationship. Id. Rosenfeld, represented by 10 11 Defendants' counsel, then successfully demurred and was granted their motion to strike pursuant to § 12 425.16. Id. at 780-81. On appeal, Dove Audio challenged the award of attorney's fees in the amount of 13 $28,296. Id. at 785. The court of appeal upheld the award on the grounds that although the award was 14 "generous," the court's determination did not "exceed[] the bounds of reason." Id. (emphasis added). 15 Here, Defendants' counsel's Expense Report absolutely exceeds the bounds of reason and exceeds its 16 own request for fees and costs in Dove Audio. The decision in Dove Audio was more complex than the 17 present litigation. Dove Audio involved multiple celebrities; understanding of the sophisticated way in 18 19 which music royalties are calculated; due diligence in identifying, and communicating with, potential 20 celebrity plaintiffs; correspondence with a governmental agency to initiate an investigation; and 21 complex legal issues. Id. at 779-784. In the present case, however, Defendant predominantly argued 22 the Coastal Abstract case (including his opposition to summary judgment), stating that this was a 23 disputed legal issue. If $28,296 were considered generous in Dove Audio, certainly a similar amount 24 would be considered generous in this case as well. 25

However, Plaintiffs are aware that in this case more than one motion was filed. Therefore,

- 27 Plaintiffs sought the independent and unbiased evaluation of Mr. Norman who after reviewing all the pleadings in this matter opined that the total number of hours claimed by Defendant should be between 1 231 and 305 hours without the summary judgment motions and between 271 and 360 hours if the 2 Court considers the summary judgment motions intertwined with the anti-SLAPP motions. Norman 3 4 Decl. ¶7(c). Although Plaintiffs believe Mr. Norman has been generous to Defendants (since Mr. 5 Norman has not examined the under seal, detailed Timekeeper Records and the numerous irrelevant, 6 duplicative, and inefficient practices employed by junior associates without proper guidance), 7 however, Plaintiffs submit to his independent and unbiased assessment and request this Court to accept 8 Mr. Norman's evaluation in its entirety. 9

J. CALCULATION OF REASONABLE FEE

When using the lodestar method, "court[s] [are] not required to set forth an hour-by-hour analysis of the fee request." Gates v. Deukmejian, 987 F.2d at 1399. Courts can "make across-theboard percentage cuts either in the number of hours claims or in the final lodestar figure as a practical means of [excluding unreasonable hours] from a fee application." Id. When performing such reductions, the court should explain its reasoning. Gonzalez v. City of Maywood, 729 F.3d 1196, 1203 (9th Cir. 2013).

19 III. CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs respectfully submit the Court, considering Mr. Norman's unbiased assessment, 21 substantially reduce the number of hours and fees claimed by Defendant's counsels. In order to assist

- the Court with the pertinent calculations, Plaintiffs have provided a fee calculation worksheet
- 24 submitted herewith as Chhabra Decl. 17, Ex. 7. Based on the evaluation, any award, including the fees
- 25 for the summary judgment motions, the Court is requested to grant Defendant a reasonable fee award
- 26 between $65,248 and $100,448, as deemed appropriate.
